Date:	June 24, 2016
Subject:	Potential Canada Post Service Disruption

Computershare has been advised by Canada Post of the possibility of a postal disruption in early July, as a result of labour disputes with the Canadian Union of Postal Workers (CUPW).

In the event of a disruption, we will initiate the next phase of our contingency plan in order to mitigate the impact to you and your securityholders.

We will continue to monitor the situation with Canada Post and provide you with updates as they become available. To obtain more information about the potential Canada Post service disruption and to view their latest news, please click here or visit www.cupw.ca.
