

Investor Relations: The Engine powering IR Pros

Prove targeting. Empower C-Suite. Influence sentiment.

The pressure on IR Pros to know more, move faster, and influence outcomes with confidence has never been greater. IR Pros use Computershare's IR Engine to run sharper programs, better align the C-suite, and shape investor perception before the market shapes it for them.

Built for IR Pros

IR Pros are defined by impact. The IR Engine, powered by ingage, is designed for anyone operating at the highest level of Investor Relations, including IR officers, senior finance leaders, and adjacent teams supporting investor engagement. Enable precise management of the full investor lifecycle, from roadshows to annual shareholder meetings to investor days, tracking history, notes, and investor feedback.

What the IR Engine Delivers

A performance-driven solution that follows a clear journey from action to influence. Beyond traditional IR tools, the Engine empowers IR Pros to build and manage the ideal investor base, including empirical targeting from Fitzcores, with functionality that streamlines and enhances interactions.

Sharpen IR Programs

Bring structure, momentum, and clarity to your IR efforts. Programs are purposeful, repeatable, and aligned with strategic priorities, giving IR Pros the focus and consistency to run more effective investor relations work every day.

Empower C-Suite

Equip leadership with the confidence and context needed to engage investors effectively and consistently. By centralizing relationships and IR activity in one place, the IR Engine means the C-suite is always ready, briefed, informed, and aligned.

Influence Sentiment

Move beyond activity tracking to actively shaping perception and help your organization tell its story clearly and persuasively to the market. The Engine provides the performance layer IR Pros need to elevate how they shape market perception.

Most IR tools manage tasks. The IR Engine drives stronger performance.

More than just a platform, the Engine represents the performance layer that powers better execution, sharper decision making, and stronger outcomes for IR Pros.
